

NO RUPTURE

Of Diplomatic Relations Between
England and United States

Over the Venezuela Boundary Dispute is Expected at Washington.

Secretary Olney Does Not Look for a Reply to His Venezuela Note to Great Britain
Within the Next Ten Days—
Monroe Doctrine Upheld.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A Washington special to the Evening Press says:

It was ascertained from state department sources Monday that Secretary Olney does not expect a reply to his Venezuela note to Great Britain within the next ten days.

In this connection it is also stated that the administration officials now seem to be satisfied that the British foreign office will not take as determined a stand as the London papers for the past two or three weeks have indicated.

The information was semi-officially given out Monday that neither President Cleveland nor the members of his cabinet now believe that a rupture of diplomatic relations between this country and Great Britain will ensue, growing out of the correspondence lately had between the United States and Great Britain over the Venezuela boundary dispute. They seem to have an idea that the alleged firm attitude of the United States will result in better relations between the United States and Venezuela as to the western boundary eliminating the eastern frontier of Venezuela from British Guiana.

It is well understood, however, that should the dispute be attempted to be settled by force of arms, followed by the occupation of the territory claimed by Venezuela, the United States would feel itself called upon to defend the Monroe doctrine to the extent of its ability.

THE SENATE.

Republican Leaders Will Make No Effort to Organize It.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A Washington special to the Evening Press says:

It is pretty definitely settled by republican leaders that no attempt will be made to organize the next senate. To do so would necessitate a combination with either the populists or those senators like Jones, Stewart and others in the silver ranks.

It is now asserted that the republican leaders have held recent conferences in New York, Washington and elsewhere and have decided that it would be impolitic to make a deal with either the populists or the silver men to secure control of the upper branch of congress in the coming session.

Without the support of these senators, the republicans will not have strength enough to control the senate.

The understanding seems to be that it will be more beneficial to allow matters to drift along until after the next national campaign before action is taken looking toward the control of the upper branch of congress.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

A Proclamation by the President of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The customary Thanksgiving proclamation was issued by the president Monday, as follows:

A PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

The constant goodness and forbearance of Almighty God, which have been vouchsafed to the American people during the year which is just passed, call for their sincere acknowledgment and devout gratitude.

To the end, therefore, that we may, with thankful hearts unite in extolling the living career of our Heavenly Father, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 28th day of the present month of November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed by all our people.

On that day let us forego our usual occupations, and in our accustomed places of worship join in rendering thanks to the giver of every good and perfect gift, for the bounteous returns that have rewarded our labors in the fields and in the busy marts of trade, for the peace and order that have prevailed throughout the land, for our protection from pestilence and dire calamity, and for the other blessings that have been showered upon us from an open heaven. And with our thanksgiving let us humbly beseech the Lord to so incline the hearts of our people to Him that He will not leave us nor forsake us as a nation, but will continue us to His mercy and protecting care, guiding us with rectitude and virtue, and keeping alive within us a patriotic love for the free institutions which have been given to us as our national heritage.

And let us also on the day of thanksgiving specially remember the poor and needy, and by deeds of charity let us show the sincerity of our gratitude.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington on the fourth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five and in the one hundred and twentieth year of the independence of the United States.

By the president: GROVER CLEVELAND.

RICHARD OLNEY, secretary of state.

SUSPICIOUS.

Canadian Troops Maneuvering
in the Vicinity of, Alaska.

They Are Constructing and Equipping Breastworks and Barracks

All Along the Disputed Boundary Line—
Every Strategic Point of Vantage Has Been Secured—The Condition of the Miners in Alaska is Very Bad.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 5.—A large party of Alaskan miners who have just arrived on the schooner Mary Buhne, which sailed from Ounulaska, October 20, bring accounts of the maneuvering of the Canadian government forces in that country. The territory along the line of the supposed boundary is well known to these parties and they report that the Canadian government has constructed many and are still constructing and equipping more breastworks and barracks on all the commanding bluffs. Every strategic point of vantage has been secured by them all along the disputed boundary line, and particularly in and around the vicinity of placer mines which are filling up with Canadian prospectors. The Americans in Alaska do not seem to realize or worry over the anxiety and eagerness of the British to seize such strategic points. The mounted police in the employ of the Canadian government are very kind, and have helped the Americans in a great many cases. In fact they have done more for them than they have for some of their own people. The rivers along the boundary line are very narrow. At the loop of Forty Mile creek, and at several points along the boundary near the creek, small detachments of supposed Canadian militia in citizens' clothes have been reconnoitering the surrounding country. The detachments are all well provisioned, well housed and have large pack trains. Surveying parties have been in the field for the Canadian government for some time, and have been doing hard work.

The party reports the condition of the miners at present in a deplorable state. Those on the upper Yukon have suffered greatly, provisions being scarce and prices high. A great many predict that scurvy will break out among the miners this winter and great suffering will result. Five deaths from scurvy had occurred before the ship sailed. There are hundreds of men who would come away if they could, but they lack the necessary means.

The British fleet are noticeable in number and fit from one point to another continually, in striking contrast to the small revenue cutters the United States has on hand, which remain in one place until they leave for the south.

Thinks It Worth Watching.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The Figaro in an article on the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela says: "The Venezuela dispute is worth watching owing to the close proximity of the British and American fleets there. Prudence recommends that they should not be left too long together, for the intense hatred of the Americans toward the old country is appalling."

Death of Eugene Field.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Eugene Field died of heart disease Sunday night about 10 o'clock at his residence in Baena park. Mr. Field was the brightest of Chicago journalists and one of the sweetest singers among American poets.
